EIGHT INCHES OF WET SNOW DOES DAMAGE TO TREES AND CROPS*Uncut Grain Flattened By the Wet Snow

The weather did not clear after last week's snow and rain, and last Wednesday night a steady rain set in and continued all day Thursday. In the evening the rain turned to snow and Friday morning about 8 inches of the wintry mantle covered the ground.

Uncut grain was flattened to the ground, and nearly every small tree in town was laden with snow and the top bent down to the ground. Many branches were broken from trees, some as large as six inches in diameter, and some of the smaller trees about the town street were broken right off.

Considerable damage to the town had not been cut and this was flattened by the wet snow. Harvesting of this grain is going to be difficult.

NOTES FROM THE EAST

Well it looked very much like we were celebrating Christmas with the Jews instead of an early harvest.

Mrs. Otto Bittner received a cablegram from Squadron Leader Louis Spragg, her brother, from Ottawa, saying that he would arrive in Calgary some day this week.

Sergeant Major George Miller returned home this week. George was a Jutland boy, so welcome home, George.

Earl Deedels and wife have been visiting with Harold Metz. He is just back from overseas.

Atha Topley spent the week end at her home. Mrs. Topley takes music on Saturdays.

Mrs. Hergert returned to Calgary last Sunday. She has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Walter McCuloch.

Mrs. Wm. Stewart of Denver, Colorado, has been renewing acquaintances in the district and in Didsbury at the home of Mrs. Harold Woods and Mrs. Sid Gilson.

BUSY BEES MEET AT HOME OF MRS. EGGINIS SEPT. 19

The Busy Bees met at the home of Mrs. Egginis on September 19th with six members and one visitor present. Some tied a baby quilt and others sewed and knitted. Sewing and knitting were returned and more given out. Quilt patches were purchased for more quilts and it was decided to find out if quilt linings could be bought.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Gourdin on October 17th. It was thought that this would be after threshing was completed, but by the looks of the weather now, it won't be.

Lunch was served by our hostess and another pleasant afternoon ended.

DOLLAR WHEAT ASSURED UNTIL THE YEAR 1950

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced yesterday that the export price of Canadian wheat would be $1.55 per bushel. This is due to world prices and during the next five years the government would guarantee that the wheat growers would never receive less than $1.00 a bushel. Both prices are basis No. 1 Northern at Vancouver or the lake head.

The minister's announcement left the grain operators free to change the export price whenever he sees fit, but the floor price will not be changed before 1950. There will be no immediate change in the initial payment of $1.25 to the bourse by the Canadian Wheat Board. The board also will not be allowed to increase export certificates which entitle him to share in any profits the board will make on the wheat of any crop year.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Rodney were held from the Knox United Church, Didsbury, on Thursday, September 21st, with Rev. A.

Reiner officiating. Mr. C. Moore sang "Old Rugged Cross". Interment followed in the family plot at Westerdale Cemetery and pall-bearers were Hugh Carlson, Ezra Theede, Godfrey Carlson, Robert Barrett, Henry Fisher and John Kitchener.

Fisher's funeral home were in charge of arrangements.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Miss Margaret Crocket is the new junior nurse at the Rosebud Health Unit, taking the place of Mrs. Davies who left for her home in the Innisfail district.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McCulloch are Calgary visitors this week, going on Tuesday.

Ed. Watkin was a Calgary visitor Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hawkes, who have been holidaying in Eastern Canada for the past three months, returned to Didsbury last week but do not expect to remain long in town.

The lumber shortage is acute in Didsbury when it comes to finishing the houses now under construction as still hold up for material. This is particularly true of the Harvey Burgess, Fred Reiffenstein and Joe Dick houses, which have been under construction since spring.

Ducks are reported fairly plentiful in different areas. Some have been had ever since the season opened that local minnows have been unable to enjoy their favorite sport. And it looks as though the roads will be in tough shape for awhile. The weather has not cleared yet and more snow and sleet is expected. Wednesday morning as this issue goes to press.

PAYS $21,000 FOR HOLSTEIN

Hays Limited of Calgary paid $21,000 for a Canadian Holstein cow, Monty Bonheur Prue B, at the dispersal sale of the Glen L. Bancroft herd in Flint, Mich. recently. The price is the highest paid for a Holstein cow on the North American continent since 1922.

In 1942, Monty Bonheur Prue B. was sold by her breeder, Mont Victoria Farms of Hudson Heights, Que. for $6,500. Her purchasers, Martin D. Bush and Sons, Comstock Park, Mich., resold her last summer to Glenn L. Bancroft for $20,000.

GAS FRANCHISE VOTE CARRIES AT RED DEER

Construction of a $1,600,000 pipeline system to serve Red Deer, Camrose, Wetaskiwin, Ponoka and Lacombe with gas will begin next spring if materials are available, officials of the Northwest Utilities started following through with a proposal to give the company a franchise in that city. The franchise plebiscite was carried by a vote of 464 to three.

Nowwest Gas are now completing survey work on the pipeline and purchase of right-of-way and other details are expected to be complete by spring.

The Didsbury Lions Club held its regular meeting at the Rosebud Hotel on Thursday evening last with 100 members attending.

Mr. E. Morris, brother of Tom Morris, who is secretary of the Lions Club at Huntsville, Ontario, gave the Club a very interesting address on the good work that their club has been doing for the last four years. He spoke in particular of the need for active members in a club if it is going to accomplish anything worthwhile to the community. Members who merely pay their dues are not much use to a service club.

The Club also had the privilege of seeing the motion picture "Ducks Unlimited" which was presented in the hall by Mr. Arnold of the National Film Board.

The Didsbury Lions Club is wholeheartedly behind the proposal for a water system in Didsbury and is doing all it can to help the power to see that the proposal is fully explained to the ratepayers. If there is anything about this project write to Didsbury Lions Club, Box 227, and the enquiry will be answered.

PRICE OF BARLEY HAS BEEN RAISED 5 CENTS

Agriculture Minister Gardner announced last week end that the average utilization payment on barley has increased from 15 to 20 cents a bushel and that no exports of barley from the 1945 crop will be permitted during the present crop year.

The price was placed on barley about two years ago fixing the selling price at around 65 cents a bushel. It was provided that when barley was exported at prices above the ceiling the excess should go into an equalization fund to be distributed to growers. This fund reached 15 cents a bushel.

Sir Harold Alexander

EARLY NEXT SPRING the people of Canada will welcome a new Governor-General, in the person of Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, distinguished soldier and strategist of two world wars. His appointment has been received with enthusiasm and satisfaction in all parts of the Dominion both by members of the armed forces, who served under him overseas, and by all others who are familiar with his distinguished record in the service of the Empire. Sir Harold will be the seventeenth Governor-General since Confederation and he is the second great British soldier to hold that office. The first one was Baron Byng of Vimy, who commanded the Canadian Corps for a time during the First World War, and was later Governor-General of Canada from 1921 to 1925.

Last To Leave Sir Harold, who is fifty-three years of age, is the son of the Earl of Calbion, of County Tyrone, Ireland, and is Britain's youngest Field Marshal. He comes to Canada at the peak of a brilliant military career, during which he took part in many of the decisive actions of the war. The first of these was the evacuation of Dunkirk, which although it was a defeat, is also recognized as a great military and naval achievement. In that same year Field Marshal Alexander won the last medal to leave the shores of France. Lord Gort's report describes this incident in the following words: "on being satisfied that no troops were left on shore they [Alexander and a senior naval officer] left for England." He took part also in the retreat in Burma where he succeeded General Sir Claude Auchinleck as commander. Here he again proved great in defeat, and was successful in bringing four-fifths of his divisions to safety over difficult jungle trails.

Planned Many Allied Victories

Later, as commandant-in-chief in the Mediterranean theatre of war, he planned the successful series of attacks in Africa which led to the complete surrender of the enemy forces in Tunisia. Much of the credit for the success of "D" Day operations and the subsequent victories in Europe were attributed to the tremendous "holding action" carried out in Italy under Field Marshal Alexander's command. Many Canadians served with him in this campaign and many were also under his command in England when, during the critical days of the Battle of Britain, he was in charge of the Southern Command and was also one of the organizers of the "battle training schools". The people of Canada will be honoured to have for their Governor-General a man who has played such an important part in shaping the Allied victory, and they will extend a warm and sincere welcome to Sir Harold and Lady Alexander and their family when they come to this country.

Lord Hartington

Marquis Leaves Estate To Son He Never Had

The Marquis of Hartington, late son-in-law of former U.S. Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, left a will bequeathing the bulk of his estate to a son he never had.

The young Lord Hartington was killed in action while serving in Europe with the Coldstream Guards, fewer than four months after his marriage to Ruth Kennedy.

His will, which he wrote on May 5, 1941, the day before his wedding, left the bulk of his estate to "my first or only son, if I have one."

There were no children born of the marriage.

He bequeathed $20,000 to his wife and the rest of the estate, totalling more than $150,000, reverts to the descendants of his brother, Lord Alfred Buxton.

Lord Hartington was heir to the Duke of Devonshire, the largest landowner in England.

MUST DIM LIGHTS

"Dull party, isn't it?"

"Yes!"

"Let's go home."

"I am home. I'm the host."

"I want to know what I'm best fitted for. Should I go to a palmist or a mind reader?"

"Better choose a palmist—you know you've got a palm."

"Joe—So you had good luck on your fishing trip, eh?"

"Me! Good luck? Why the fish bit so fast I had to get behind a tree to bait my hook."

"Barber! Haven't I shaved you before?"

"Sergeant: 'Nope. I got this star at Pearl Harbor.'

"Hello, Ruth, do you still love me?"

"Ruth? My name is Helen."

"I'm so sorry—I keep thinking this is Wednesday."

"I'm sorry," said the dentist,

"but I can't make an appointment with me this afternoon. I have eighteen caries to fill." And he pulled off his golf bag and went out.

"Matthews! And I want even the kitchen floor clean enough to have our wedding reception on it."

"Nice! Mud! You will look funny."

"Friend! So you fined Miss Society $5 for spelling. Is she aping?"

"Mandrake: 'Oh, very. But we couldn't let that affect our decision you know!'"

A three-year-old girl was biting her bottom lip, looking worried, when a man came by and asked what was the matter. The girl answered, "My mother has killed the cat."

"Well," said the man, "I will buy you another cat."

"Not thank you," she said, "I just wanted to kill it myself."

Jasper National Park

Returning United States Service Men Take On Jasper Game

Men and women of the American Army, attached to the Alaskan division, who have seen service in the far north, the Aleutians and other outposts far from civilization are finding rest and recreation special leaves in the Rocky Mountains in Jasper National Park.

Approximately 50 G.I.s and WACs journey to Jasper by Canadian National Railways from their nearest base at Edmonton and spend five days in Canada's largest national park, including in sports of all kinds, including horseback riding, swimming, boating, climbing, tennis, archery, volleyball and golf, all of which are free of charge.

There are also bus and pack trips and dances at which the girls' booster Club of Jasper are hosts.

During the time at camp the men and women are completely on their own "with no lassos and any silver that is worn in the hair or carried in the teeth" according to a bulletin issued by the U.S. Army.

The services of the men and women of the U.S. Army has been given over to the B-52 Bomber Group. More than 250 persons have attended the camp since it opened on July 15, including a party of newspaper correspondents attached to the army, and the camp will be filled to capacity each week until it closes on Oct. 15.

Many of the service personnel returning to the United States from postings in isolated northern areas, some within the Arctic Circle, are spending a week of relaxation at the camp before proceeding to their homes or to other assignments.

It is the old lesson: "a worthy purpose, patient energy for its accomplishment, a resoluteness undaunted by difficulties and then success."

Novel Proposal

Australian Paper Suggests Military Might Of Empire Be Transferred To Canada

The Sydney Morning Telegraph of Australia has proposed a drastic change in the structure of the British Empire, involving a shift of the centre of economic, political and military strength from the United Kingdom to the Dominions and India.

Vigorously following up External Affairs Minister H. V. Evatt's demand for a major role for Australia in the post-war settlement, the Daily Telegraph said: "Historic changes are at work around the Pacific basin which an Empire centralized in London anachronistic and a diplomacy centralized in Europe as dangerous as atom bomb at a dinner-table."

The newspaper declared that changes must be effected that will make it no longer necessary "to fight a life-and-death struggle on the White Cliffs of Dover, conscious that defeat would leave a major portion of the Empire to be grabbed up in decomposed fragments."

The proper transformation, the Daily Telegraph said, might call for the transference of the Empire's military air power to Canada together with the bulk of the United Kingdom's general manufacturing industries.

Says Civil Aviation Prices Must Be Brought Within Reach Of The Public

Lord Winter, minister of civil aviation in the new British Labor government, said yesterday in an interview that civil aviation in the future must be brought within the reach of larger sections of the population which cannot now afford the benefits of high speed at high prices.

"We have got to find some way of cheapening the cost of flying," he said, "and the time is ripe for it. It is no good having India 16 hours away from Britain by air if it is too expensive for most people to fly there."

Viscount Knobell, chairman of the board of directors of British Overseas Airways who accompanied Lord Winter, said he agreed.

At the time of their surrender, the Nazis were obtaining "surprisingly good results" in harnessing power from disintegrating hydrogen peroxide and were adapting it to naval use.

We made all very simple at first.

We were told to wear our caps when the boys wore theirs, but, of course, we knew that there would be one exception—church; here only, would we sit demurely like other women with our heads covered and our shawls and shakles. A member of the Corps happened to attend a session of parliament. Something told her that women attending parliament were to keep their heads covered, so she left on, with the idea of nibbling at her nose, and the other women followed suit.

To her great joy and belief, she found that she had done the correct thing. The speaker had ruled that only women with their heads

CWAC IN ARMY OF OCCUPATION

A draft of nearly four hundred CWAC arrived in England lately. They are the first CWACs sent from Canada to be posted with the Army of occupation. Before leaving Canada, On, they were joined by Col. Margaret Eaton. She told them that they might live their lives in occupied Europe anywhere from two to five years. The girls have been sent to the Army of occupation as cooks, drivers, typists, etc. Long distance telephone operators, etc. All but 322 reached the rank of private in order to get across, what's a few stripes when the longed-for rank had arrived? They were really on their way. Kit bags and handbags were well loaded down with extra supplies of soap, cosmetics and other articles rationed overseas. Just think, a little over four years ago there was no Women's Army, and now it's a Corps. Over twenty thousand girls have answered to the call. Carry on, girls and good luck wherever you are!

Representatives Of UNRRA Report On Conditions In Greece And Work Of Rehabilitation

ON the way from Lamia to Karpenessos there is a village where storks can be seen nesting on almost every house-top. They sit prudently on the roof-tops, they squat on the trees and swirl in lazy, slow circles overhead. It seems as though all the storks in Greece have congregated in the one village, a strange sight, but the reason has been found. Between Lamia and Karpenessos there are hundreds of small villages, but each and every one is a mass of rubble and charred ruins.

"Stork Town" was the only village for miles around that had any roofs left on which the storks could build their nests. And that was when they all came to live. "We thought we knew the meaning of destruction," said Captain John W. Walker, already tallied up the people who had been there," wrote an UNRRA welfare worker on April 7, 1945 from the burned village of Vrastamides in Greece, "but we found that one cannot fully realize the results of this kind of war until one actually sees not only the destroyed building, but the people who survived the crime."

In August, 1944, the Germans burned Vrastamides, a village built long ago in the shadow of the mountains, built there because it offered a kind of protection, of isolation against the free-roaming bandits who roamed the hills. Within a few hours, just as in hundreds of other villages in Greece, the 150 neat homes built of native mud and brick were burning furiously. And when the enemy had gone, only seven houses retained a roof over their walls. But of the 650 inhabitants of this village, many survived and stayed on and refused to give up hope.

"We found those people suffering all the ills of war's destruction. There were no shoes; just a few still had the remnants of tops, but no soles; no possessions, excepting what was left behind by the guerilla activities of the Greeks. "Nevertheless, we found men, women and children who had lost their home and their work. They lived it by working the land; they would eventually be able to help rebuild their village, and some of them worked in the vineyards with primitive hand tools and much determination. We saw some who were working their way to a hemisphere again. There were three horses left of the 150 formerly owned by the villagers, and women were weaving cotton thread. They told us that these horses had been hidden from the Germans and had just been put to use again. They had been used to pull carts, because some sheep had been driven into the mountains when the Germans came. A smaller supply of cotton remained because the Germans had set the death penalty for harvesting of crops, but when the Germans left, the villagers had gathered into the fields to gather what cotton remained."

The investigating party that entered Vrastamides comprised representatives from UNRRA, the Near East Foundation and the Agricultural Bank of Greece. The investigators, after visiting with and talking to the villagers, they settled down to a meeting with the village committee. "In speaking of their needs," commented this reporting UNRRA representative, "neither the committee nor the people here were talking with either had had a direct relief. They did not ask for money or food or clothing. They wanted tools, seed, livestock, raw wool, cotton and sewing machines.

"Said one man: 'Help us to get the things to work with and we will do the rest.' We advised them to return to their village, the people they had met gave up the hope to rebuild the walls, replace the roofs, repair the floors and have their houses again. The completely demolished church can be rebuilt, they were sure of it; and the school can and must be repaired, providing new classes for our four years."

At present the villagers of Vrastamides are busily engaged in living, working and rebuilding. In cooperation with UNRRA, the Near East Foundation and the Agricultural Bank of Greece, the village committee devised a way to have local committees established. Raw cotton and wool in being provided and strangely enough the Germans themselves have unwittingly assisted in this project since shelters and the work centre have been built. The capital of the Greek state, Athens, are supplementing the food of the village, even cotton is being secured so that silk production can be started again. Health and medical services are being sent in and Vrastamides has begun its new life.

"This village, one of thousands of such villages in Greece," concludes UNRRA's representative, "demonstrates what can be accomplished through the cooperative efforts of the people themselves, their government, voluntary agencies and UNRRA. And it is also an example of the supplies and more supplies that must be brought to thousands of other burned villages so that they, too, may enjoy the right to work and live."

In many reports from UNRRA workers inside Greece, one kind of story concerning the young children and the village schools keeps recurring like a theme with infinite variations.

In the little village of Malindriene there were 713 people of whom 130 were children of school age. Most of the people, including the children, have malaria, no shoes, and very little clothing. In Malindriene there is only one little village school. One hundred and 15 buildings have been totally destroyed. However, one of these nine totally destroyed buildings was the village school. And had the school survived, there was in any event, no teacher available. So the 130 little children have had no schooling for four years and they can neither read nor write.

The little village of Karyatida has a population of 350. Most of the people are suffering from malaria, many of them are blind, crippled, disabled, except rags, food is very scarce. This village was not quite so lucky as Malindriene. Karyatida has been burned three times and there is not a single house left standing. The villagers crowd into a few rooms they have been able to make available and there are two children of school age. Of these only some 20 have ever been to school since the war began for Greece in October of 1940.

Both these villages, of course, are in a district which has been devastated by the enemy in an effort to stop the guerilla activities of the opposition.

Ammunition supply officials declined to speculate on the salvage possibilities. Presumably some of the explosives might be returned to the United States for use in training areas.

Much of the explosives, however, probably will be dumped into the ocean, where they can do no harm. It is estimated it would take six months to remove the contents of the entire dump, hit by hit in conformity with safety.

The depot sprawls over 9.7 square miles of land, and is described as one of the largest in the world. That probably is why the exact location still remains a closely held secret.

Built by British forces, it has 54 miles of concrete highway and 5.7 miles of railway track.

The anticipated boom in plastic aircraft production for instance, is expected to carry cotton fabrics or light wings to new pinnaclces of popularity. Here is a big market for the Chinese. The Textile Institute has found that modified pvcyidone alone is not sufficient to withstand severe weather strains. Layers of pressed plywood must have cotton aircraft fabrics draped onto all the weather surfaces of their wings and fuselages.

Another development that will carry over into the future is flame-proof cloth. Specially treated cotton clothing for fire fighters already have proved invaluable in wartime. Since fire is one fear that is no respecter of peace, treated, this flame-proof clothing may be equally invaluable throughout postwar years. — The Monetary Times.

ON EQUAL FOOTING

A young British lieutenant was passing through a deserted canteen in London one day, when a dirty disheveled scoundrel was locked up. The scoundrel was unable to call out, "Hi, there, young man! Bring me some water, will you?" The young man stopped, looked down at the woman in astonishment, and replied, "My good woman, I'm an officer. Dash it all, you can't address me like that!" The woman lifted her head, blew a wisp of hair out of her eyes and retorted, "Dash it all, man, I'm a Duchess!"

UNIVERSAL PUZZLE

Judging the ages of women in these times has him puzzled. Mr. Justice Edwards admitted in the Sydney Daily Telegraph recently, "You can't tell women's ages now by looking at them," he said, "and you can't tell by asking them to tell you, as the young ones say they are older and the older ones say they are younger. They all seem to want to be in their twenties, and you can't place any reliance whatever on what they tell you about their ages."

PRACTICAL EXAMPLE

State Secretary Byrnes termed the new Russian-Chinese treaty "an important step forward" in relations between the two countries. He said it was a practical example of the continuing unity and mutual helpfulness which should characterize the acts of members of the United Nations in peace as well as in war.

PLAN TO THUMB WAY ACROSS OCEAN—Using their thumbs—two pretty Ontario girls, Joyce Hill, 20 (left), Newmarket, and Margaret Smith, 19, Brampton, hitch-hiked 3,000 miles from their homes to Vancouver in nine days. They have left the city on another "thumb tour." This time they are going to see Okanagan on the way home via Banff and Lake Louise. The girls made their trans-continental trip through the States last year, such a good time they plan to thumb their way through Europe next year. It started early this summer when the pair met Vancouver's hitch-hiking team, Joan Smith and Barbara Green at Lumberlost Lodge in northern Ontario. When Joan and Barbara told us about their trip across Canada, we decided to come to the coast and see the Rockies," explained Joyce.

Ammunition Depot

Stands In India A Monument To Canadians Are Advised Against Trip To United States

A giant statue of a soldier, holding all the Allied forces in China, Burma and India stands "somewhere in India" as a veritable monument to India's waste.

The 129,461 tons of explosives it contains were a priceless asset of the fighting forces until Japan's sudden outbreak. They have been worth $100 million to the original contractors, which had been estimated initially by military authorities to between $50,000,000 and $82,000,000.

Like all stores of U.S. ammunition on foreign soil, this dump has now become a vexing problem to army authorities who must decide upon its disposition.

Ammunition supply officials declined to speculate on the salvage possibilities. Presumably some of the explosives might be returned to the United States for use in training areas.

Some indication of the need for rationing and controls in India came recently from a memorandum issued by the Combined Food Board and from agencies dealing with food distribution throughout the liberated areas in Europe.

Never seen the best hot for long distance travel in the U.S. will be by air. The 19 American airlines have ordered 975 new planes, with seating capacity for 36,000 passengers. The new equipment will cost nearly $300,000.

Before Pearl Harbor the U.S. airlines operated 335 planes with seating capacity for 6,250 passengers.

Air planes going into effect include the building of "air port cities," Washington D.C., for example, is expected to have more than 500,000 Europeans, consumption levels are deplorable, however. In the cities the amount of food available is inadequate and provides less than the 2,000 calories a day, while an average Briton needs 2,500.

In some countries conditions have improved, but supplies are still inadequate. In Belgium and Holland, for instance, the ration now gives 1,700 to 1,800 calories a day per person, while in Africa, Greece and Italy the ration is 1,500. In liberated Europe, consumption levels are deplorable, however. ### Some Strange Cargoes

Taken In Transport Planes To Britain From Many Lands

The war has been responsible for the carrying of very strange cargoes in British transport aeroplanes, reports "Britain." Live frogs have often been flown from South Africa for research purposes. On the containers is printed the injunction, "Live frogs to be released at Cairo." Live frogs are flown from Sierra Leone and guinea pigs for smallpox research are sent to the Medical Research Council. A yellow fever vaccine labelled, "The life of this serum is 48 hours after leaving the laboratory" has been taken to its destination in time.

HAS NEW NAME

"Open Fire" was the name of the newspaper printed aboard the destroyer U.S.S. Norris. When the paper came out V-J Day it had a new name: "Cease Fire".

RECONVERSION PROGRAM—Remote control unit for motorized equipment and mantel radios instead of radar parts is included in the reconversion program of peacetime production.

Ration Level In Great Britain Reduced To A Lower Point Than Prevailed During The War Years

IN GREAT BRITAIN, the ration level has been reduced to a point lower than that prevailing at any time during the war years and the maintenance of even those low levels will be extremely difficult in respect of meat, bacon and cheese, so a recent survey by the Ministry of Food showed. Liberal contracts by the Combined Food Board diminishes the surplus in the world pool from which Great Britain may draw her requirements, unless the exporting countries can still further increase their shipment.

United Kingdom officials estimate that if the present liberal contracts for meat from other countries are filled, they would still want from Canada during the last half of 1945, well over 400,000,000 pounds of meat in order to provide Armed Services, forming the main occupation forces in Germany, supplies from Great Britain, with its priority needs and to maintain present British ration levels.

A survey of the bacon position shows that even if the present Canadian bacon contract is completed it will still have about 34,000,000 pounds of bacon in stocks and will be 16,000,000 pounds short of satisfying present British bacon rations which are now the lowest since the outbreak of the war.

A report of a committee of the Combined Food Board, issued recently, gave the information that the Kingdom's diet would give rise to apprehension about possible effects on the work output, health, and morale of the civilian population.

Some indication of the need for rationing and controls in India came recently from a memorandum issued by the Combined Food Board and from agencies dealing with food distribution throughout the liberated areas in Europe.

While conditions vary in different countries and even in different parts of the same country, the general picture is that of a marked improvement in the standard of living. Particularly in the cities the amount of food available is inadequate and provides less than the 2,000 calories a day, while an average Briton needs 2,500.

Continue Operations

Shipbuilding Plants Are To Remain In Operation

A number of shipbuilding plants originally scheduled to close down shortly, will probably remain in operation for several months, informed sources said at Ottawa.

The plants, located mainly in Quebec and British Columbia, were contracted to close down, it was said, in order to finish certain ships, now well on their way toward completion. The ships mainly would be used to replace present obsolete vessels of the Canadian Navy, which will require a considerable number of ships for its post-war complement.

Immediate mass layoffs in several large plants would be prevented by such a move, it was said.

STRANGE VALUES

"Cans in China were so valuable that they were worth selling cans of ordinary household size for 60 Chinese dollars roughly $3 in American money. A two-quart size can brought 180 Chinese dollars. Chinese factories made these cans into teapots, pans, oil cups, saucepans, lamps and many other kinds of utensils."

MORE BEEKEEPERS

In 1944 the number of beekeepers in Canada was 22,200 and the bumble after 280,000 bee colonies. By 1944 the numbers of beekeepers had increased to 40,700 and the number of bee colonies to 508,500. It is anticipated that further increases will be recorded in 1945.

WAS NEVER CALLED

Broke The Bank

Story About Engineer Captain In Borome Who Got Surprise

In Borome where Australian troops waited for the Japanese to realize they were on the wrong trail, are chronicled the stories just received of the man who broke the bank of Bank of British Papuan. The man, an engineer captain, is anonymous. He discovered the bank soon after the landing and decided that must be prepared to defend it. He took a safe and prepared to explode the safe with dynamite, set the charge and retired to a safe distance. Instead of a small explosion merely blowing open the door to reveal a valuable safe in the interior, instead, there was a terrific explosion followed. The engineer had packed the safe with high explosives as a booby trap. Australian troops are reported to be finding souvenirs of the safe scattered far and wide over the beach.—Australian News Review.

Is Learning To Speak English By Long Distance

An eight-year-old Chinese orphan boy is learning English by long distance from a Virginia woman.

The lad wandered into an air force base in China and said he was hungry. The man asked him to stay to dinner and he has been there ever since. The engineer's wife, a friend of the man of the Chinese-based Indians sends pencils, crayons and drawing books. It is not known whether his English has a southern accent.

THE LIGHT AND POWER PETITION

The petition is again being circulated in an endeavor to have the domestic rate for light and power in Didsbury reduced to conform with rates in other towns along the line, and so far we are informed that the petition is being signed by practically every user of electricity in town.

Owing to price control the Wartime Prices and Trade Board demands that practically 100 per cent of the users of electricity for domestic consumption sign the petition before any reduction in rates can be made.

A survey of the town indicates that under present consumption of power the citizens of Didsbury will save over $1200 a year should the new rate become effective. The Calgary Power Company has agreed to the lower rate and no doubt in the long run this Company would benefit somewhat from this lower rate by an increase in revenue from increased consumption. But so would the citizens of Didsbury.

It is unfortunate that the power suppliers could not agree to a lower minimum charge, but with the way over there is going to be greater use of electrical appliances and most users of electricity can take advantage of this modern heating equipment at very few cents more per month than the present minimum rate. It does not seem right that our townsmen as a whole should be penalized for the sake of a few, especially when the $1200 a year saved on electricity would pay the estimated cost of hydrants for fire protection for a new water system, and pave the way for a modern town.

If you have not already done so, you are urged to sign the petition now being circulated to provide for lower power and light rate.

MORE HOGS — NO MEAT RATIONING

Despite efforts of the butchers and meat dealers across Canada, meat rationing is to continue with some modifications, and the only reason is that Canada is pledged to supply the starving people of Europe, and hasn't sufficient meat to do this and provide for the home market, too.

Now if Canada had a meat board, similar to the wheat board, we probably would not have meat rationing today. When the price of oats and barley was bonuses hog prices should also have been bonuses, and Alberta farmers never would have gone out of hogs, as they have done, with the result that hog production in this province has been reduced in a little over a year by 35 per cent.

Boost the price of hogs to the level of coarse grain prices and we will have plenty of meat to supply the European markets and our home markets, too.

AVOID A LAND BOOM

Land booms epitomize all the evils and dangers of inflation. During and immediately following the 1st World War we had a land boom. As reported in the "Country Guide" for May, 1944. Farmers sold out and retired... In many cases their farms, run down and weed infested came back on their hands. In other cases the purchasers, to protect their equity, struggled manfully and often hopelessly, to pay for land bought at inflation prices with farm products sold at depression levels. Much of the financial distress on these western plains stems right back through the great depression to the fantastic prices of the first war inflation period.

Even now it is time for farmers to reflect upon the experiences of the past. They should resist the urge to buy more land especially if it is not possible to pay cash. Land booms breed on the fear that farms for sale will become exhausted. There need be no fear. Scarcity and high prices are sure to be followed by plenty at low prices.

TALL TALES FROM THE WEST

Said a cow puncher: "I trained a saddle horse so well that the animal would always obey my command I gave it. One day, mounted on this horse, I was chasing a jack rabbit. The rabbit, in order to elude me, went headlong over the brink of a 1,000-foot cliff. Without hesitation the horse followed."

"I thought my mount had come, but then I remembered how thoroughly I had trained my mount, so I just sat tight until we were five feet from the bottom. Then I hollered 'Whoa!' The horse, obedient as always, stopped instantly—and I stepped down, unharmed."

While hunting along a river early last fall I saw a duck swimming across the water. I took aim with the trigger, but the duck instantly went under and the shot missed him. I tried again, with the same result. Then I leaned the rifle against a tree, sat down, filled my pipe and studied the situation.

When I let out the rest of my tobacco smoke, the old duck went under again. He thought the smoke came out of my gun barrel, and he was diving to dodge the bullet. So I fooled him: I sat there and smoked.

MOST OF US DON'T KNOW

Hardly anyone—not even the publisher—knows how important a newspaper is to a community.

The smaller the town, the more important the newspaper is in its economic life. Its news, editorials and feature stories focus the interest of surrounding territory on the place in which the paper is published.

This force and the force of advertisements by local merchants build an ever-widening trade area. This means more business, more money for schools, homes and churches—a bigger and better town.

A town with a newspaper is a town with a future. The better the paper, the brighter the future.

It deserves the support of every business man in that town.

We are trying to make this paper worthy of our town. Your help and suggestions are appreciated.

The bride wore a white dress and carried a bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by her younger sister, Agnes. Mr. Stewart Tighe, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride and groom plan to go east to Mr. Lieth's home in Quebec for the winter. They will return in the spring to make their home in the Arrowhead district.

editor with the following counter-question: Extend the right hand two feet from the body with the thumb and finger clasping a ten dollar bill and stretch arms into the extended hand of the editor. At the same time say:
"We're looking for you?" The editor will clasp your hand and say,
"You bet!" After giving the editor the news of your district you will be permitted to retire

MOST VALUABLE INSTITUTION

(By H.G.L. Strange)

The work of investigating and combating plant diseases—stem rust and leaf rust which attack wheat plants are merely two of them—is centered in the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory. Winter wheat breeding has produced some valuable varieties of rust-resistant grains such as Renown
and Regent wheats; Vanguard, Ajax and Exeter wheats, with others coming along.

Some people assume now that these rust-resistant varieties have been produced, that the work of the Rust Research Laboratory is over. This assumption I find is greatly in error, for just as the Plant Breeder, by crossing different varieties, can never be certain that he is resistant to the existing forms or races of rusts, so is Nature unfortunately busily at work also creating new races of rusts and other plant diseases. At any time, therefore, a new form of rust may come along to which the existing varieties of wheat are not resistant.
We therefore, that the battle against rust is never ended and that the Rust Research Laboratory is only just starting the good work of which it is capable. The work, therefore, of the Rust Research Laboratory should not only be maintained in full vigour, but, considering its small comparative cost, should be considerably expanded so that our farmers can have protection against these dread rust and other plant diseases.

BURNSIDE NEWS NOTES

We don't use the telephone very often but when we do it is usually out of gear in the Burnside district.
If the board of directors could oblige us with a little better service we would appreciate it.

There will be a harvest Thanksgiving service in the Burnside School on Sunday, Sept. 30th at 3 p.m. The Rev. Musson of Olds will officiate.

Mr. Geo. Stinson left Monday for big home in Mammayville. He has been visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Bob McCulloch.

Edie Patterson and Howard Davison have joined partners in a threshing machine which they have purchased.

Mrs. Page and son spent Monday evening with the Mardons.

Mr. Jack Clarke of Calgary visited with his father and mother
last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Idris Jenkins and family left their home in Calgary last week and are continuing their studies at technical school in Calgary. He was with the meteorological station at Whitehorse for the past four years. Previous to that he taught school in the district.

Bill Jenkins and Miss Shepherd of Turner Valley are to be married on October 3rd.

Mr. Jenkins, who has been bedridden for a number of years, is a very happy man these days, with his sons all around him again, including his two grandchildren. We wish him a speedy recovery.

The roads are bad in the district owing to the snow and rain, but it is good weather for ducks. The shooting can be heard all around us.

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them.

Business men remember that the home paper is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your

Atlantic Air Travel

Expert Thinks It Will Be Popular

In Few Years

A noted Canadian aeronautical expert said recently that any of the planes now being prepared for trans-Atlantic travel "will be suitable for us the job, but at least they will tell us what the next generation needs."

The statement was made by B. S. Strode, president of the Canadian Aeronautics and Space Agency, Ltd., of Montreal, after working with Britain's air ministry and ministry of aircraft production during the war. He said commercial airlines now were charging 16 cents a mile for Atlantic crossings, that they had no trouble getting 10 cents and five cents after that. But the five cent rate was "a long way off."

Among air passengers, he said, those who gave the greatest difficulties were babies and men with hangovers. The treatment for both was similar in many respects.

There was no reliable method of predicting how many people would be flying the Atlantic in 1950 but by the very rough comparisons available a figure of 300,000, going both ways, could be reached.

Hurried Too Much

Japs Say They Needed Time To Win Chinese Hearts

Tokyo radio recently beamed an English language broadcast to North America which said Japan admittedly failed to win over the Chinese because of the will of the nations of the Asiatic continent and the southern areas."

The Japanese were unable to "win the hearts of the Chinese," it said.

"Europe, too, was a most unfortunate case," added the broadcast, made by the Federal Communications Commission.

And the same "unfortunate" situation prevailed in the Philippines, the East Indies, Indo-China and India.

"We tried to hurry things too much," Tokyo said.

"We were irritated and in a hurry. We did not have the courage to wait for things to take their own due course." If we had only grasped their hearts, this war would probably have terminated differently."

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

*One thing about being late for school, you get to drink out of a paper cup at the water cooler in the principal's office.*

STUDENTS TO SLEEP AND EAT IN ARMY HUTS—Students of the University of British Columbia are going to live in army huts next semester. University officials completed the purchase of 17 huts from a nearby army camp through War Assets, and the huts are now being moved by truck to the university campus. To facilitate moving, the huts are saved in half because of their length. Above photo shows an army being moved to the U.B.C. campus. Dormitory space on the campus is new to the university, said Coy M. G. Shrum of the faculty, who is supervising the moving. Accommodation is being made for returned service men taking university courses in the "Fortress," a full-time army base nearby. This last camp will still be under army control, however. Col. Shrum said the hut will serve as temporary quarters for maybe five years, when, it is hoped, permanent buildings will have been erected.

Crossing The Atlantic Wars May Continue

Passengers On Ships Have To Put Up With Restrictions

Unless There Is Some Drastic Change In The Human Heart

The Atlantic waters are cold and fog-bound now of Newfoundland even in August, but one of the immemorable notices on the liner S.S. Stratheden was some drastic changes in the warm passengers that they should buy more fruit than they had made it possible for any nation to buy.

The Stratheden, 25,000 tons, is far from her familiar peacetime ports, where the bumbunks with jabbering native salesmen, used to cluster about the ship, and the deck war zone continues until there is no peace.

She has the carved names of scores change in the human heart, or liver, of soldiers she has carried to battle, or wherever the seat of human passion is. And I see no signs of that Canadian service men and women, now."

Harris, retiring head of the R.A.F. bomber command, was asked if through the atomic bomb would end her white sides. "Not likely," he said. "I expect we'll have to wait a good deal longer before the world can adjust to the new atomic era."

Harris, who called the battleship the dodo of this war, said the heavy bomber probably would be the dodo of the next.

Harris said he was retiring because of old age, but I'm entitled to a pension, so I'll be all right," he said.

Those who make the eastward passage on a trooping find that the vessel isn't a luxury liner. Those who complain and they are few enough—are reminded courteously that wartime restrictions apply and then they read a paper they signed before they came aboard saying they had accepted the austerity of wartime conditions, as well as such ship's discipline as the commander may see fit to apply.

Not that there's hardship. The utilitarian cast iron bulkheads in the cabins of officers' compartments and the deck rooms are comfortable and the food is good, served three times a day with tea in the afternoon.

The ship is clean even if there are no more carpets in first class cabin; the tea or coffee at breakfast and dinner is good, but water for other meals, unless the passenger enjoys the 4 o'clock afternoon brew with a bite of cake; there are few stewards and no hands to spare for chores such as arranging fuzzy passengers in deck chairs.

Those who make the eastward difficulties are small on a ship like this and the wanderer will find most of his woes are behind him when he gets ashore. On the Stratheden—or any other ship—he will meet a merchant seaman going home while pals will recall the days when he was in winter through the Arctic sea to Murmansk; "bumped" twice on one trip, once in his own ship and once on the ship that rescued him.

The trumpet call of the whooping crane can be heard as far as three miles.

The Dutch have been in the Indies since the latter part of the 16th century.

Might Be Solution

Raising Standard Of Livestock Would Help Feed Stock

The supply of feed grain is said to be causing the agriculture departments a good deal of anxiety. It falls short of requirements and it is higher in price than it used to be. The price is increasing all the time.

There is one way of meeting this question other than by greater production. That is by raising the average standard of livestock and getting more meat and milk from each animal. It costs less to feed a good one. Farmers should sell their herds so as to eliminate the low producers and use the money to buy better stock. They will then be using less feed and getting better results. A raising of the standards of cattle, hogs or sheep will help to bring the condition of the former. It will lead to a greater demand for Canadian beef, bacon and mutton in the British market and add to the general prosperity of the country. With the Danes struggling to get away and they deserve a break anyway, to get a little fat Canadian producer to go to a permanently larger share of the British trade.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

NEW NYLON—Elaine Jorgensen and Mrs. Elizabeth Warkentin and their limbs look more shapely as they try on new nylon hose they were given to wear in the Ladies' Club. They were among lucky ones who were able to get there first when a huge crowd stormed a store when stockings were put on sale.

Health League presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

SPECIALISM

Specialists have been busy for centuries creating all sorts of things which might serve the whole of humanity but which end up doing more harm than they do good, writes Dr. Gordon Bates in the current issue of Health, magazine of which he is the editor.

Dr. Bates also is general director of the Health League of Canada of which the magazine is the official organ.

"Specialists have created gunpowder, dynamite, V bombs and poison gas in spite of the fact that research in chemistry and physics could be directed wholly in the interests of human health and happiness," Dr. Bates says.

"It was a wise Indian, said Canada when the other day, and that specialist is another form of ignorance. As a matter of fact, the trouble with the specialist is that too often he excludes from his mind closely associated with his own specialty and tends to go through life like a horse with blindfolded in their field, timbered with trifles and created masterpieces which appear to their author to be a contribution to their country's good but ignorance of the laws of economics have made them well-meant efforts result in crime and waste. Specialists can be disease which should be prevented or have related on medical means for preventing disease, the causes of which are social—and the same thing goes for theology."

"The remedy—good cultural education for everyone before entering on a specialized field. Every child has a right to a good sound general education before he becomes a specialist in anything. And for the benefit of mankind we should see to it that every child gets the education he deserves. Furthermore this education should be as broad and as extensive as the state allows."

"We have suffered enough from half-educated specialists."

Spitzbergen Mines

Important Source Of Coal For Norway Now Off Of Commissary Mines

Norway's coal is off of commissary mines on the Arctic island of Spitzbergen, one of the coldest in the world, and the coal for Norway will be of little value for many months to come.

The crew of a ship which had just returned from that Arctic outpost describes the destruction at Longyear City, the principal mining town on the island, as almost unbelievable.

More than a jutting volcanic plateau Spitzbergen with its mines had never been considerably developed before the war, and the houses, buildings, and extensive mining equipment represented an important development of the mines themselves is almost complete. Fires in one have only recently been extinguished while another mine still burns fiercely.

Build For Future

Most Turn Engines Of Destruction To Useful Purposes

We—all of us must rebuild. We must turn our engines of destruction to useful purposes.

We must save. We must learn once more to depend upon ourselves and not upon the Government or its agencies.

We must find some way to turn our newly developed engines of destruction into instruments for the advancement of human welfare.

We must understand that no tyranny can be imposed upon some toller in any far-off region without our feeling a recoil of the lash. The guns are silent; our consciences must never be.—New York Sun.

Princess Of Tribe

Lady Roddick Entertained Iroquois Indians At Her Montreal Home

Lady Roddick was hostess at a dinner given on the occasion of her residence in Montreal recently when she entertained a group of 32 Iroquois Indians from Caughnawaga.

The guests of honor, led by Chief Poking Fire, arrived with all the dash and color of full regalia and were received with great respect in Indian costume. Lady Roddick whose Indian name is Princess Kawarankora or Gathering Words, by virtue of her being a writer, enjoys the distinction of being the only white woman who has ever been made a true princess of the ancient Iroquois parliament.

FARM MACHINERY

The demand for farm machinery probably will not be met completely until 1947, F. M. Morton, senior vice-president of the International Harvester Co., told a recent meeting of the Canadian Society of Agricultural Engineers.

He added that continuing labor shortage is preventing full production.
